FOREWORD

This handbook on the Federal Ministry of Education is meant to equip staff with the relevant knowledge on the operational modalities of the Federal Ministry of Education, the Civil Service and the Public Service in general.

We see education as a way of transmitting culture, attitudes, skills and knowledge to an individual for his personal survival and for the continuity of his society. Therefore, the Federal Ministry of Education has the greatest role to play for the survival of the Nigerian society since education serves as the bedrock of all other professions that serve the various arms of government in Nigeria.

The benefits of this Handbook are unquantifiable as it contains not x-rays the nitty-gritty of the education sector but also adumbrates the salient issues operative in the public service. This handbook should be a daily guide for all educators and educationists who provide the relevant navigation in the education sector. It should also serve as a resource material for researchers and other people who wish to see the education sector and our country, Nigeria move forward for the benefit of her citizens and future generations.

I, therefore, recommend this handbook to all staff of the Federal Ministry of Education and all other public servants since the education sector cannot operate absolutely without the other sectors in the Nigerian polity.

Arc. Sonny S.T. Echono
Permanent Secretary,
Federal Ministry of Education
PREFACE

Education is the most effective force that drives the development of any nation. One of its primary roles is to build and sustain individual and societal development. It enhances knowledge-based decisions, renews and improves the economic, social, political, technological and cultural development of any nation. The human capital required to meet the challenges of the present and future can only be developed through qualitative, efficient, effective and functional education. Therefore, the kind of education that can provide competitive advantage in the present global knowledge economy where knowledge and ideas are central to development must be of good quality.

It is for the above reasons that the Federal Ministry of Education with its well-structured Departments, Parastatals, Agencies and institutions were established to ensure that the Nigerian citizenry acquire qualitative and functional education for self-reliance and global competitiveness.

This Handbook gives a clear and vivid understanding of the vision, mission, mandates, structure and function of the Ministry, its Department, Parastatals, Agencies and the Ministerial Strategic Plan (MSP). Also contained in this Handbook is the Code of Ethics and Conducts expected from every staff of the Federal Ministry of Education. A good comprehension of the contents of this Handbook will equip staff to be knowledgeable and empower them for greater tasks as civil servants.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The development of FME Handbook could not have been possible without the support of the Honourable Minister of Education, Mallam Adamu Adamu, Honourable Minister of State for Education, Hon. Chukwuemeka Nwajiuba and the Permanent Secretary, Arc. Sonny S. T. Echono.

The Directors heading all the Departments and Units of Federal Ministry of Education are deeply appreciated for their valuable contributions.

The Department of Educational Planning, Research and Development (EPR&D) headed by Mrs. C.O. Ogbede is equally grateful to all the Parastatals and Agencies under the Federal Ministry of Education for their various contributions.

We are grateful to the following retired Directors, Deputy Directors and Assistant Director, Mrs. Irene Mbanefo, Mrs. Ngozi Nduka, Mrs. Grace Ekong, Ms. Adanta Uduku, Mrs. Rhoda Onyinmadu and Mrs. Catherine Oparaji. Our gratitude also goes to Mrs. Julie Uzor, Mrs. Claris Ujam, Dr. Sylvester Nwaorgu, Mrs. Aisha Garba, James Solomon and other individuals who participated at the various stages of developing, critiquing and editing of this document.

The EPR&D Department appreciates the active leadership role of Director (EPR&D) Mrs. C. O. Ogbede, not forgetting the Head of Informatics Branch Dr. Okosun G. I. Worthy of appreciation are Mrs. E.O Etuknwa, Mrs. S.O Aregbesola, Mrs. O. C. Nwokorie, and all the staff of Education Information and Documentation (EID) Division for putting this document together.

CHAPTER ONE

Introduction

The Federal Ministry of Education has the overall responsibility of formulating national policies and guidelines for the standardization of education at all levels in Nigeria. This is enshrined in various statutory instruments, principally, the Constitution of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, 1999 (as amended).

The Federal Ministry of Education is in charge of the activities of the sector in Nigeria. It comprises: 14 departments, 3 units, 21 parastatals, states and zonal Quality Assurance Offices, State Federal Scholarship Board, Tertiary Institutions (Universities, Polytechnics, Monotechnics and Colleges of Education) as well as the Federal Government Colleges (FGCs).

At the helm of affairs of the Ministry, is the Honourable Minister of Education and the Honourable Minister of State for Education. While the Permanent Secretary is the Accounting Officer of the Ministry, the Directors are responsible for the day-to-day running of the activities of their departments and servicing units.

In accordance with the approved Mandate of Ministries, Departments and Agencies (MDAs) by the Federal Executive Council (FEC), the Vision, Mission and Mandate of the Federal Ministry of Education are as detailed below:

Vision
To become an economy model, delivering sound education for the public good.

Mission
To use education as a tool for fostering development of all Nigerian citizens to their full potential in the promotion of a strong, democratic, egalitarian, prosperous, indivisible and indissoluble sovereign nation under God.

Mandate/Functions

- Formulate and co-ordinate a National Policy on Education;
- Collect and collate data for purposes of educational planning and financing;
- Prescribe and maintain a uniform standard of education throughout the country;
- Control and monitor the quality of education in the country;
- Harmonize the educational policies and procedures of all the States of the Federation through the instrumentality of the National Council on Education (NCE);
- Effect co-operation in educational matters on an international scale; and
- Develop curricula and syllabuses at the national level.
Objectives

- Provide accessible and affordable quality learning opportunities that prepare students with the knowledge and skills needed for success in an interconnected world;
- Increase access to educational opportunities for the uneducated mass who have missed out on formal education;
- Development of better qualified and employable individuals by running programmes that provide students with tools for entering the workplace;
- Expansion of learning and the acquisition of skills beyond the current institutions of learning;
- Ensuring demonstrated capacity for innovation and technology in the institutions for facilitating learning;
- Establishment of a clear relationship between learning and the capacity for higher learning capabilities and wealth creation; and
- Ensuring the ability of students to replicate experiences and lessons generated from case studies during the programme.

Policy Direction

To transform the Education Sector by developing individuals into morally and academically sound, effective and skilled citizens that are globally relevant; providing equal and unfettered opportunities for all citizens of the nation at all levels of education using the formal and non-formal school systems.

FEDERAL EDUCATION QUALITY ASSURANCE SERVICE (FEQAS)

Introduction:
The present Federal Education Quality Assurance Service (FEQAS) Department evolved from the Federal Inspectorate Service (FIS). The creation of twelve states in 1967 raised a great concern about the possible emergence of divergent education standards and practices in the country. Consequently, the FIS was established in 1973 in recognition of the need for the Federal Ministry of Education to provide leadership in the formulation of national education policies for the purposes of Planning, Quality Assurance and Maintenance of uniform standards nationwide. The FIS existed as a semi-autonomous body until 1988 due to the civil service re-organisation ACT No 43, FIS lost its autonomy.

Vision

To have a dynamic Quality Assurance Service that ensures effective and efficient education delivery below the tertiary level.

Mission

To set agreed national education standards that ensure optimal attainment in all institutions below the tertiary level, through a Quality Assurance process that guarantees efficient and effective curriculum delivery and good educational management for improved learner achievement in a globally competitive environment.

NATIONAL QUALITY ASSURANCE GOALS

- To Develop and improve effective internal and external mechanisms to enhance learners’ achievements to satisfy the needs of stakeholders.
- Be Accountable to the public and meet global challenges.
Mandates & Functions

- Co-ordinates the development of a functional national Education Quality Assurance (EQA) system and framework in collaboration with States, FCT and other stakeholders.
- Sets, maintains and improves standards in all aspects of the school system below the tertiary level.
- Ensures minimum standards and quality control of instructional activities in schools through regular evaluation and continuous supervision working with the States to organise Whole School Evaluation of public and private schools over an agreed cycle.
- Works with States to accredit schools for external examinations.
- Supports capacity development of States and FCT including mentoring of evaluators to carry out EQA functions effectively.
- Works with States to produce and disseminate national EQA documents and advocacy materials to the government, schools, quality assurance evaluators and the wider public.
- Collates and analyses EQA annual report of States and the FCT to identify nationwide trends and patterns in the quality of education.
- Produces and disseminates widely an Annual National State of Education Report with inputs from States and the FCT.
- Works with the States to train, accredit and maintain a data base of qualified education quality assurance evaluators in Nigeria.
- Establishes, in collaboration with other stakeholders, a national code of conduct and practice of EQA in Nigeria and ensures compliance.

- Advises all tiers of government and private school proprietors to use the outcome of evaluation to inform policy, planning, training and interventions to facilitate school improvement.

Structure

The FEQAS Department consists of five Divisions which perform distinct roles in order to ensure quality education delivery below the tertiary level.

Universal Basic Education Commission (UBEC)

Location: Abuja
Chief Executive: Executive Secretary

Introduction

The Universal Basic Education (UBE) Programme

The Federal Government of Nigeria launched the free Universal and compulsory Basic Education (UBE) programme in 1999. This move was made in line with the constitutional provision which states that “Government shall strive to eradicate illiteracy” by, among others, “providing free, compulsory and universal primary education.” It was also done to fulfill the national philosophy and goals of education which underlie the country’s aspiration to social, economic and political development.

The UBE programme can, therefore, be seen as a demonstration of the country’s commitment to protocols and conventions on education to which Nigeria is a signatory. These include the Rights of the Child Convention (1989) and the World Declaration on Education for All and Framework for Action to Meet Basic Learning Needs (1990).

Vision

Ensuring that all children, regardless of ethnicity, religion, class, or gender, have access to quality basic education.
Mission
To operate as an intervention, co-ordinating and monitoring agency to progressively improve the capacity of states, Local Government Agencies and Communities in the provision of unfettered access to high quality basic education in Nigeria.

Mandates & Functions

- Channels intervention funds towards providing and upgrading infrastructure in schools, enhancing teacher capacity, procurement of instructional materials and promoting the education of children with special needs.
- Formulates the policy guidelines for the successful operation of the universal basic education programme in the Federation.
- Receives block grants from the Federal Government and allocates such to the States and Local Governments and other relevant agencies implementing the Universal Basic Education in accordance with an approved formula as may be laid down by the Board of the Commission and approved by the Federal Executive Council, provided the Commission shall not disburse such grants until it is satisfied that the earlier disbursements have been applied in accordance with the provisions of this Act.
- Enquires into, and advises the Federal Government on the funding and orderly development of basic education in Nigeria.
- Collates and prepares, after consultation with the States and Local Governments, and other relevant stakeholders, periodic master plans for a balanced and co-ordinated development of basic education in Nigeria including areas of possible intervention in the provision of adequate basic education facilities.
- Carries out in concert with the States and Local Governments at regular intervals, a personnel audit of teaching and non-teaching staff of all basic education institutions in Nigeria.
- Monitors Federal inputs into the implementation of basic education.
- Relates with State Governments through their respective State Universal Basic Education Boards (SUBEBs) and the Local Government Education Authorities (LGEAs) established by the Law passed by the State House of Assembly.
TERTIARY EDUCATION TRUST FUND (TETFund)

Location: Abuja
Chief Executive: Executive Secretary

Introduction

The Tertiary Education Trust Fund (TETFund) was originally established as Education Trust Fund (ETF) by the act No 7 of 1993 as amended by Act No 40 of 1998 (now repealed and replaced with Tertiary Education Trust Fund Act 2011). It is an intervention agency set up to provide supplementary support to all level of public tertiary institutions with the main objective of using funding alongside project management for the rehabilitation, restoration and consolidation of Tertiary Education in Nigeria.

The main source of income available to the Fund is the two percent (2%) education tax paid from the accessible profit of companies registered in Nigeria. The Federal Inland Revenue Services (FIRS) collects the tax on behalf of the Fund. The funds are disbursed for the general improvement of education in federal and state tertiary educational institutions.

Vision

A world-class interventionist agency in Nigeria’s Tertiary Education.

Mission

To provide focused and transformative intervention in public tertiary Institutions in Nigeria through funding and effective project management.

EDUCATION FOR CHANGE: A MINISTERIAL STRATEGIC PLAN (2018-2022)

Introduction
The Plan, which is a conglomeration of Federal and States' Education Plans seeks to reposition education to play a central and definitive role in the Change Agenda of President Muhammadu Buhari by addressing the following challenges in the education sector:

- Low access to basic education (an estimated 10.1 million out-of-school children)
- Depreciating quality of education over the years
- Poor teacher education training and unattractive reward systems
- Proliferation of unregulated non-state schools
- Absence of reliable and valid data to support effective planning
- Non-functional curriculum especially at the tertiary level
- Declared a state of emergency in the education sector

The Education for Change: A Ministerial Strategic Plan (2018-2022) is anchored on 10 pillars as follows:

- Out-of-School Children
- Youth and Adult Literacy
- Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) and Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET)
- Basic and Secondary Education
- Teacher Education, Capacity - Building and Professional Development
- Curriculum and Policy Matters
- Tertiary Education
- Education Data and Planning
The result areas

GENERAL INFORMATION

Code of Ethics and Conduct in the Civil Service

Traditionally, our Civil Service used to attract the very best of talents and enjoyed high recognition and respect, indeed envy, from the other groups in the society. All these, however, started plummeting a couple of decades ago. All the same, the leadership of the Service has taken steps to reverse the trend, burnish its image and make it more relevant to national aspirations. It is, however, clear that a lot still needs to be done to get the civil service to the promised land.

Code of Ethics

In order to continue to move the Civil Service in the right direction, the requisite Code of Ethics should be embraced by all civil servants. Ethics mean a sound culture, based on ethical values and principles. A civil servant should ensure compliance with the principles of law and the implementation of judicial decisions. He should perform his duties properly and efficiently and display professional discipline, dignity, integrity, equity, impartiality, fairness, public-spiritedness and courtesy in the discharge of his functions, notably in his relationship with his seniors, colleagues and juniors, as well as with the public. He should ensure at all times that public property under his responsibility is managed in the most appropriate and efficient manner. His conduct shall be deemed to be appropriate only when he behaves in a manner that enhances public confidence and boosts the image of the Service. In addition, the following Code of Ethics demand his attention and adherence:

(i) Political Neutrality and Duty of Confidentiality

A civil servant should not use his post, functions or responsibilities for political or partisan purposes, which may be detrimental to the interests of the civil service. He should respect the confidentiality of official information to which he is privy by virtue of his professional activities, even after leaving office, except where the law, the legitimate authority or the interest of justice requires otherwise. He should not, on the basis of his political affiliation or ideological beliefs, seek to influence or change the policies, decisions or actions that the administration has decided to define, adopt or implement.
(ii) Integrity and Moral Rectitude

A civil servant should refrain from any activity that is inconsistent with ethics and morality such as misappropriation of public funds, favouritism, nepotism, discrimination, influence-peddling or administrative indiscretion. He should not solicit, accept, demand or receive, directly or indirectly, any payment, gift or other advantages in kind, in return for performing or refraining from performing functions or obligations. It shall be reprehensible for a civil servant to offer gifts or other advantages that might influence in his favour or in favour of his family members and friends, the judgment or decisions of another person. A civil servant shall, under no circumstances, mis-use public property or prevail upon his juniors to perform activities other than those falling within the scope of his functions or mandates.

(iii) Conflict of Interest

A civil servant should not take up functions or positions, engage in transactions or have any financial, commercial or material interests that might be incompatible with his functions, responsibilities or duties. Without prejudice to the incompatible activities already laid down in the laws or regulations, he should, to the extent required by his official position, declare any financial and commercial interests he might have or any profit-making activities he may be engaged in, either directly or through family members, if such interests or activities are likely to give rise to conflicts of interests. In the event of any potential or actual conflict of interest between his professional status and private interest, a civil servant shall terminate activities likely to give rise to such a conflict.

(iv) Professionalism

Professionalism resides in how skillfully and how well a civil servant performs his functions and duties. Professionalism manifests itself in his behaviour at work and in his constant effort to improve, reinforce and update his knowledge, refine the skills that are necessary for carrying out his tasks and enhancing his output and productivity.

1. Secrecy

2. Discipline

The civil servant must well-disciplined. Rules and regulations should adhered the interests of the Service which must be paramount. Senior officers should prescribe codes of conduct which they themselves can and should comply with. Those who wish to lead other people should always remember that effective leadership involves exemplary character, hardwork and integrity. Good conduct is one of the criteria for promotion: Therefore, civil servants should be familiar with Government Regulations. They must learn to obey lawful orders and constituted authorities.

(3) Loyalty
Civil Servants should be loyal to the Government which has given them the opportunity to serve it. No Officer or employee should assume that he has the right to a salary or wage without giving adequate service in return. Government has no obligation to retain inefficient or disloyal elements in the Service.

(4) Honesty

Civil servants should be honest in carrying out their duties and dealings with the public. They should realize that they are paid salaries for the duties which they perform. This means that they should be conscientious on duty and demand or receive nothing in cash or kind from anyone.

(5) Courage

Courage is one of the greatest assets of every civil servant. The exhibition of this quality takes many forms. It may be shown in working hard in a very busy post, for there is really no reason to fear hard work. Civil Servants should acquire the courage of working hard. They should not hesitate to take over an extensive schedule of duties. Another type of courage involves doing what is morally right even though one does not stand to gain personally from such an action.

(6) Courtesy

It costs nothing to be polite to colleagues and the public. Polite instructions are usually more easily obeyed. Members of the public always cherish courtesy and consideration from civil servants. Courtesy in the office and to the public makes it easy to get on with other people. A heavy schedule of duties or any other circumstance cannot justify bad temper by civil servants.

(7) Co-operation

The staff in all sections of the Ministry should co-operate as a team in order to realize the overall purpose of the ministry. The staff of a Ministry should work together to attain the goals of the Ministry. The eleven members of a good football team co-operate whenever they are on the field for a match. One or two members who believe that they are as good as the rest of the team put together may cause the defeat of the whole team.

(8) Tact

Tact means skillfulness in handling a difficult situation without offending to the people involved. That is very necessary in the Service. Skill in dealing with people by creating an impression of willingness to be of assistance enhances the efficiency of the office and gives the public satisfaction.

(9) Industry

Industry means useful hard work. Staff should endeavour to work hard to earn their pays and promotions. To work hard with good results, the following principles are useful:

a. Knowing the scope of one’s work;
b. Being familiar with the various parts of one’s schedule of duties;
c. Deciding the appropriate order or sequence of the various stages of the task;
d. Before starting an assignment, it is necessary to have a rough idea of when to finish; and

e. Ensuring a clear writing style.

(10) Avoidance of Delay

A hard-working staff should not delay action on files or projects. However, some schedules of duties are extremely busy. There are either so many people to interview and/or so many files to deal with. Time should be devoted to official work. When ill, a medical Doctor should be consulted. In case of sickness, the office should be informed within 24 hours. The medical procedures in the PSR should be adhered to. Delay can be avoided in the following ways:

a. All assignments should be submitted on time.
b. No hoarding of files.
c. Avoiding being bogged down by a difficult matter at the expense of many simpler ones. In this connection, there is a psychological advantage in disposing of several simple cases before taking on tougher ones;
d. Coming early to the work place and devoting time to work until the closing time.
e. No malingering in the work-place; and
f. Doing some overtimes occasionally in order to update one’s work.
(11) Tidiness

Civil Servants should keep their offices tidy not only because visiting members of the public served by them are thereby more favourably impressed but also because an orderly office often gives an idea of the state of mind of the staff. It usually enhances efficiency if files and equipment are placed so that they are easily located when necessary. Workers should also ensure that they are properly dressed in their work places. It is useful to remember that how people dress tells keen observers a great deal of the general character and taste of such people.

(12) Helpfulness

It is now a common belief that people do not assist those unknown to them. This allegation is borne out by the fact that many young people now seem to believe that they can only get jobs from public offices if they channel their applications through their personal friends, relatives or townsmen. This unfortunate tendency should be discouraged by all civil servants. There are many opportunities of helping one’s colleagues and juniors in the office at no personal costs. A junior officer can be advised to further his studies instead of being allowed to waste his official time gossiping. Similarly, Supervisors should find the time to listen to their juniors who have personal or domestic problems. Those who complain that some of their requests have been turned down should be told why it was impossible to meet with their demands. If documents come to an officer in error from members of staff or the public, they should be re-routed appropriately.

(13) Kindness

Being kind does not imply that one should give to people what they are not entitled to. Kindness involves respecting the privileges and rights of officers, employees and members of the public, irrespective of the fact that those concerned are unknown. A Civil Servant is a public servant. He should, therefore, serve impartially. Kindness also involves having a humane approach in dealing with people in difficulty. This applies to staff as well as members of the public. A staff in difficulty needs help and anyone in a position to do so should assist him to the best of his ability without, breaching the regulations or perverting the course of justice. The same consideration should be shown to the public.

(14) Efficiency

Our level of efficiency can be improved upon. Training-consciousness will help in this regard. No grade or group of officers should consider itself so good as to dispense with further training. As a matter of policy, advantage should be taken of induction, refresher and training courses. In the national interest, training institutions in the Federal Service should be open to Civil Servants in the States. As a matter of policy, staff may attend training courses in the States. It would be extremely rewarding if the training of some Federal and State personnel could be held jointly to promote a community of experience for such trainees. The younger elements in the Services are very important. Their most promising members will later be among the top Civil Servants. It is, therefore, suggested that the minds of the future leaders in our Services should be exposed to good education and discipline. The Services should not only be disciplined; they should also be efficient.

APPROVED CONDUCTS FOR PUBLIC SERVANTS

(1) Attitude to Public Funds

The following points are strongly emphasized in terms of cost consciousness:

a. No wastage of public funds. Frugality should be maintained.

b. Collectors of Government Revenue should be conscientious in their duties. They should not grant any rebates as a favour to anyone.

c. Justification of every expenditure and ensuring that economy is always maintained, e.g. discourage wasting public funds on ill-advised purchases near the end of the financial year.

d. Discouraging financial abuses by making suitable reports through the right channels.

e. Made-in-Nigeria goods should be preferred to their imported counterparts. Patronage of local goods encourages the growth of local industries and employment.

(2) National Consciousness

The ideals held by people influence their actions. Therefore, civil servants should aim at inspiring, broad-minded ideals without being unrealistic. One Nigeria is by far better and always superior to any town or clan or ethnic group in the Federation. Therefore, the interest of any group should not be pursued at the expense of what is best for Nigeria. Attempts by some people or ethnic groups to appropriate public offices and resources to themselves or members of their group always tend to weaken and change the bonds of national unity. Sometimes, civil unrest may arise from indifference to or disguised encouragement of nepotism, favouritism and their associated vices.

(3) A Good Image of the Service

The Government of the Federation is the largest employer of labour. The Civil Service, therefore, has a leading role to play in the socio-economic affairs of the country. Nigerian civil servants have proved their mettle in successfully grappling with the problems arising from the rapid, social and economic development of the country. A deterioration of standards should not be tolerated. In achieving this goal on which a good image of the Civil Service depends, Nigerians, particularly those at the top, should continue to provide honest and courageous leadership.

(4) Social Problems and Social Justice

Civil Servants have the responsibility of helping to formulate and implement Government Policies. These policies concern the maintenance of law and order, promoting a healthy and well-educated citizenry, efficient systems of transportation, reliable means of communication, opportunities for trade and industry, efficient development of national resources, etc. The amenities provided by the Government should be equitably distributed among the people without reference to political parties, ethnic and religious groups. As civil servants are paid from the various taxes collected from the people, they should help to ensure that:

(a) Equal opportunities for employment are provided for all job-seekers.
(b) Under no circumstances should bribes and gifts be taken from applicants for jobs. Interviews for employment should always be conducted by a duly constituted panel. It should never be left in the hands of a single person. Proper records should be kept of the interview for future reference.
(c) Nepotism or any other form of preferential treatment should be avoided.
(d) In the services themselves, privileges should be granted only to those who are qualified for them.
(e) Civil Servants should never dispense private or personal favours with public funds and property.
(f) Justice and fair play should be extended to all concerned.
(g) Public business is always discharged in accordance with extant laws, rules and regulations of Government and with expedition.
(h) Discriminatory practices to individuals and groups are discouraged.
(i) All irregularities reported should be investigated and corrective actions promptly taken.

(5) Flexibility and Decision Making

Much of the work of the schedule officers involves taking decisions or supplying information to aid decision making. In doing this, Civil Servants should ensure that, as much as possible, they follow the under-listed steps as a means of enhancing objectivity and good judgment:

(a) Thorough mastery of problems;
(b) Knowing the facts about the problems under consideration;
(c) Analysis of the facts collected;
(d) Examining whether available precedents fit into the problems under consideration;
(e) Determining the conclusions in the light of the facts and other consideration; and
(f) Giving an idea of probable effects of the conclusions, if implemented.

APPPOINTMENTS

Appointments to the Federal Civil Service are done on the authority of the Federal Civil Service Commission. The Federal Civil Service makes appointments to all posts as the need arises. However, it delegates the power to appoint Grade level 01-06 to the Federal Ministries.

Types of Appointment

There are several types of appointment in the Public Service. They are:

- Trainee or pupil appointment
- On probation in a pensionable post
- On non-pensionable contract.
- Temporary appointment
- Acting appointment
- Special appointment

Trainee /Pupil Appointment

This is the appointment granted to officers who are required to acquire additional professional experiences before they can be regarded as fully qualified for appointment to a specific post. They are expected to be on tutelage/training post for 2 years before they can be appointed to the full grade on probation and will not be eligible for confirmation in the service until they have met the conditions for confirmation, i.e. must have served two years, earned a good report and passed prescribed examinations where applicable.

Appointment on Probation to a Pensionable Post

All officers on first appointments to the pensionable post other than trainee will be on probation for two years. An officer confirmed on a lower pensionable post will not be regarded as being on probation in a higher post to which he has been promoted or transferred. An officer is required to pass the prescribed examination appropriate to his appointment.
Temporary Appointment

The recruitment of persons into temporary positions by MDAs has been abolished. The federal civil services Commission shall not accept any request for regularization of such appointments. The Regularization of appointment is effected by the Commission to integrate officers in defunct government agencies into the mainstream Civil Service.

Acting Appointment

Acting appointment is usually approved by the Federal Civil Service Commission when a particular post requires to be filled at a time when no officer of corresponding rank is available for posting. Acting appointments are not intended as a means of testing the suitability of officers for promotion, they are normally made in order to fill posts that are temporarily vacant and their duration should be limited.

Acting appointment is subject to vacancy and shall be approved by the Commission and on the recommendation of the Senior Staff Committee. The officer must have spent one year on salary grade level 7-13 and two years on the substantive grades of 14-16. The Appointment will be gazetted by the Commission but it will, on no account, be backdated to a period in excess of six months of the date of receipt of the recommendation by the Commission.

Special Appointment

This relates to:

a. National Youth Service Corps Presidential Merit Awards whose employment by the Commission is automatic regardless of vacancy constraints.

b. Where there are vacancies, the presidential order which grants disabled persons special concession in appointments to posts in the public service must be respected.

Contract Appointment

Contract appointment is a temporary appointment (which does not provide for payment of pension) to a post of a level whose appointment is made by the Federal Civil Service Commission for a specific period. The appointment must be recorded in formal documents and agreement. The terms and conditions are specified in the contract agreement. Any question of interpretation of a contract affecting his/her conditions of service should be referred to the Head of Service.

Eligibility for Appointment

Persons seeking appointments to permanent and pensionable positions in the Federal Civil Service are to fulfill the following conditions:

- Must be a Nigerian as defined in the 1999 constitution of the Federal Republic of Nigeria.
• Must not be less than 18 years and not more than 50 years of age.
• Should possess the “minimum qualifications” specified for the job applied for. the qualifications for jobs in the Civil Service as prescribed in the schemes of service for each cadre. (the minimum qualifications are being reviewed upwards);
• Should be certified by an authorized Health Care Provider as being sound in health and medically fit for government service.
• Should present a testimonial of good conduct from previous school/college or last employer.
• State employments previously engaged in; why he resigned and if he is obliged to remain in any employment.
• State whether or not he is free from financial embarrassment.
• Should possess the NYSC Discharge or Exemption certificate where applicable.
• Appointment of officers into the service must have been authorized by the OHCSF and supervisory Boards in the case of parastatals.

Promotion

This is a strategy for motivating and ensuring improved performance from one grade level to a higher grade level in the civil service. It is not a right but a privilege which must be earned by meeting the set criteria.

Maturity for Promotion

The maturity period for promotion for the following officers is as follows

i. Officers on GL 03 – 06 - 2 years

ii. Officers on GL 07-14 - 3 years

iii. Officers on GL 15-16 - 4 years

Effective Date for Promotion

The effective date of promotion is 1st January following the promotion exercise or as determined by the Federal Civil Service Commission.

Conditions/ Criteria for promotion

i. There must be vacancy on the post being sought.

ii. The candidate must have reached the stipulated maturity date: GL 03 - 06 (2 years); GL 07-14 (3 years); GL 15-16 (4 years).

iii. The candidate must score an average of 60% and above in the promotion interview.
iv. His name must appear on the seniority list of his cadre.
v. He must not have any pending disciplinary case.
vi. He must have passed stipulated examinations as specified in the scheme of service regarding his career where applicable (e.g. COREN)
vii. APER scores of relevant years must be submitted.
viii. He must be confirmed on the job.

DISCIPLINE

It shall be the duty of every officer to acquaint himself/herself with the disciplinary rules and any other regulations in force.

Discipline is divided as follows:

(i) General inefficiency
(ii) Misconduct
(iii) Serious Misconduct

- For a Head of Department on assumption of duty in a new office.

3. CIRCULARS

Circulars are used to convey important information or directive from one Ministry or Department of the service to other Ministries and Departments or government agencies. Internal Circulars are also used within the Ministry or Department, e.g Establishment Circulars, Treasury Circulars, Internal Circulars

4. DRAFT

A proposed reply, circular or other document put by an officer to a higher authority or superior officer for vetting and further necessary action or directive. A draft may be amended by filling in the gaps in the efforts of the subordinate officer by including new or additional facts by a senior officer.

5. LETTER WRITING

Letters to other Ministries are always addressed to the Honourable Minister or Permanent Secretary and at times, marked for the attention of lower officials. In the case of Parastatals or government-owned companies/agencies, letters are addressed to the Chairman/Chief Executive Officer, Director-General, etc. It is customary for officers writing or conveying information to write “I am directed” by the Honourable Minister, the Permanent Secretary or any other authorized officers in the Ministry or Department. This means approval has been given in writing, in a file to carry out the action, NOT VERBAL DIRECTIVE OR INSTRUCTION. Such letters are signed by the lower official for the superior officer who gave the directive.
6. REPORT WRITING

This usually contains a detailed coverage of an event or matter with background information or history of the matter, appraisal or analysis of the issues involved, observations and findings and recommendations or suggestions for consideration and approval by the authorities.

7. MINUTES OF MEETINGS

Usually, a schedule/desk officer or any senior officer may be required to be the secretary of a meeting of a committee and is expected to produce the minutes of such a meeting. The minutes must indicate the subject matters discussed and the decisions reached on them.

8. ENDORSEMENTS

Letters which are written or received and they contain information which should be conveyed to other government offices. It saves time and labour to have them copied and forwarded by merely endorsing the copies. All endorsements should bear the reference number of the files containing the original letters and include reasons why copies of the letters were endorsed e.g. “For your action with reference to paragraph 3 of the above”. In some cases, endorsements are conveyed only for the information of the relevant departments, offices or officers.

9. HAND-OVER NOTES

This is prepared by an outgoing officer handing over to an incoming officer taking over a schedule of duties in an office.

10. SPEECH WRITING

It is important for public/civil servants to know how to prepare official speeches to be presented to the public by their Honourable Ministers, Permanent Secretary, Directors or the Chief Executive Officer. As senior public/civil servants, it is important to be familiar with the basic ingredients of a good speech. Usually, any speech written by an officer for presentation at a public function should be prepared as a draft which should be passed to the supervising superior officer for vetting and for subsequent forwarding to the Director, Permanent Secretary, Honourable Minister or Chief Executive Officer as the case may be. As in other forms of official communication in the Public Service, officers must have good communicative skills amongst other qualities/competences, to be able to write good speeches for the public.
MANAGEMENT MEETINGS AND BRIEFINGS

The following meetings are held to provide for the evaluation the Ministry’s programmes:

Top Management

This is the of Meeting between the Honourable Ministers, Permanent Secretary, Directors and Heads of Units.

Honourable Ministers/Permanent Secretary Meeting with FME Directors, Heads of Parastatals and Agencies

The meeting holds quarterly and provides an avenue for interaction with the Heads of Parastatals who are saddled with the responsibility of implementing some of the government policies on education.

Management Meeting

This is the meeting of the Permanent Secretary with the Directors in-charge of the various Departments and Units. It holds frequently and it is a very useful platform for the management to rub minds and proffer solutions to problems which may affect the delivery of the Ministry’s mandate.

CONCLUSION

This handbook has been prepared to enable staff to familiarize and refresh themselves with the operational methods of the Federal Ministry of Education and the civil service in general. Furthermore, references can be made to the Public Service Rules (PSR) and the extant circulars that have been guiding the Public Service in Nigeria.
